AGING AND DISABILITY SERVICES DIVISION

SERVICE SPECIFICATIONS CASE MANAGEMENT

Any exceptions to these Service Specifications must be requested in writing and approved by the Deputy Administrator of the Aging and Disability Services Division.

PURPOSE:

To promote quality of service, the Aging and Disability Services Division (ADSD) has established service specifications that contain general guidelines. The service specifications that each grantee must follow consist of GENERAL REQUIREMENTS and PROGRAM-SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS established for each type of funded service.

SERVICE DEFINITION:

This service is a person-centered process whereby the case manager, client and the client's representative discuss the client's vision and priorities for quality of life, and agree upon outcome goals for a service plan they develop together. The service plan addresses relevant barriers to achieving the outcome goals, such as deficits in Activities of Daily Living and Instrumental Activities of Daily Living. The case manager then locates services, coordinates them and monitors progress toward identified outcomes with the client.

SERVICE CATEGORIES AND UNIT MEASURES:

The following service categories and unit measures must be used to document the amount of service provided:

Case Management: Person-centered assistance either in the form of access or care coordination in circumstances where the older person and/or his or her caregiver(s) are experiencing diminished quality of life due to conditions described in 1.1 below, which may be improved through the provision of services. Activities of case management include discussion with the client to determine his or her desires and priorities for quality of life, which are used to determine outcome goals for a service plan they develop together to overcome barriers to achieving such goals. The case manager assists with the service plan development, identifies options and providers, and follows up with reassessment as required.

One unit equals one hour of direct case management service performed for, or on behalf of, an eligible client.
