A REGULATION relating to services for persons with certain disabilities; replacing the term “mental retardation” with “intellectual disability” and the term “related conditions” with “developmental disability”; prohibiting a provider of supported living arrangement services from employing or entering into a contract with certain persons; requiring a provider of supported living arrangement services to keep certain records; revising provisions concerning deficiencies in the provision of supported living arrangement services; revising provisions concerning an application for and renewal of a provisional certificate and a certificate authorizing the provision of supported living arrangement services; requiring a provider of supported living arrangement services to comply with certain requirements concerning the provision of supported living arrangement services; revising provisions concerning the revocation of a provisional certificate or a certificate; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel’s Digest:

Existing law requires the Administrator of the Aging and Disability Services Division of the Department of Health and Human Services to adopt regulations governing supported living arrangement services. (NRS 435.333) Section 5 of this regulation requires a provider of supported living arrangement services to obtain certain information, including a criminal background check, concerning employees and independent contractors of the provider. Section 6 of this regulation prohibits a provider of supported living arrangement services from hiring an employee or contracting with an independent contractor if the employee or independent contractor has committed certain crimes or has been excluded from participation in federal health care programs.

Sections 7, 30 and 31 of this regulation require a provider of supported living arrangement services to maintain certain records.

Existing regulations provide that the Division may impose sanctions against a provider of supported living arrangement services for certain acts. (NAC 435.524) Section 8 of this regulation adds additional sanctions that the Division may impose.

Existing regulations require a provider of supported living arrangement services to have a certificate to be eligible to receive payment from the Division for the provision of supported living arrangement services. (NAC 435.510) To obtain a certificate, an applicant must first obtain a provisional certificate. The Division may issue a certificate to a provider of supported living arrangement services that has a provisional certificate after conducting a quality assurance review of the provider. (NAC 435.521) Sections 14 and 19 of this regulation clarify that a provisional certificate is issued to a new provider of supported living arrangement services pending the issuance of a certificate pursuant to the successful completion of the initial quality assurance review. Section 16 of this regulation provides that a provider of supported living arrangement services who has a provisional certificate is eligible to receive payment from the Division for the provision of supported living arrangement services. Section 17 of this regulation revises the requirements for an application for a provisional certificate.

Existing regulations require a provider of supported living arrangement services to enter into a written contract with each person or his or her parent or guardian, if applicable, and the Division before providing supported living arrangement services to the person pursuant to a provisional certificate. (NAC 435.565) Sections 19 and 37 of this regulation: (1) remove the requirement that the person who is receiving supported living arrangement services or his or her parent or guardian be a party to this contract; and (2) require the contract to conform with the individual support plan prepared for the person.

Section 20 of this regulation provides that the Division may deny an application for a provisional certificate if the applicant, an officer of the applicant or certain employees or independent contractors of the applicant have been convicted of certain crimes. Section 21 of this regulation provides that a holder of a provisional certificate who wishes to obtain a certificate must comply with certain laws and regulations, the written provider contract between the provider of supported living arrangement services and the Division and the written service authorizations received from the appropriate regional center. Existing regulations provide for the issuance and renewal of a certificate for a period not to exceed 2 years. (NAC 435.521, 435.522) Section 21 authorizes the Division to issue a certificate for any period not to exceed 3 years. Section 22 of this regulation provides that the Division may renew a certificate for a period not to exceed 3 years if the applicant complies with certain laws and regulations, the provider contract and the service authorizations.

Section 23 of this regulation adds certain items to the list of standards for the provision of quality care concerning supported living arrangement services with which a provider of supported living arrangement services is required to comply. Section 24 of this regulation provides that the Division or a regional center: (1) is required to conduct a quality assurance review to determine whether the holder of a provisional certificate or a certificate complies with certain requirements; (2) may take certain actions in conducting a quality assurance review; and (3) is authorized to conduct a quality assurance review at any time. Section 25 of this regulation requires the policies of a provider of supported living arrangement services that is an organization to meet certain requirements. Section 26 of this regulation requires a provider of supported living arrangement services to: (1) ensure adequate development and implementation of individual support plans, training of the provider and coordination and monitoring of supported living arrangement services; and (2) obtain oversight services and any other services necessary to assist in program development and planning, carrying out and monitoring the provision of supported living arrangement services. Section 28 of this regulation revises certain requirements that must be met by a provider of supported living arrangement services before or soon after the commencement of the provision of supported living arrangement services.

Existing regulations prohibit certain members of the direct support staff of a provider of supported living arrangement services from administering any substance which is categorized as a controlled substance in schedule II or any opioid agonist medication. (NAC 435.675) Section 29 of this regulation removes that prohibition and instead prohibits such persons from administering any medication required to be administered by injection except for auto-injectable epinephrine.

Section 32 of this regulation provides that a person may file a complaint against a provider of supported living arrangement services with the regional center from the region in which the services are provided. Section 33 of this regulation adds items to the list of acts or omissions that constitute a ground for the revocation of a provisional certificate or a certificate. Sections 34 and 35 of this regulation make minor revisions governing the revocation of a provisional certificate or a certificate. Section 36 of this regulation provides that, in addition to the Administrator of the Division, the Administrator's designee can also consider an appeal of the revocation of a provisional certificate or a certificate.
