2. Public Comment:

- Betty Hammond – Whereas in 1990 President George W Bush signed the Americans with Disabilities Act, ADA, into law a landmark piece of legislation that prohibited discrimination against people with disabilities in the public sphere. Whereas, in 2004 the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act was reauthorized ensuring all youth with disabilities have access to a free appropriate public education. Whereas, in 2014 the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act was signed into law helping individuals with disability gain access to employment, training and support. Whereas the Deaf and hard of hearing communities, their families and allies, witnessed the changing employment and political changes taking a toll on services. The community is acknowledging the state without expertise from the community and its partners and families has been unable to continuously provide equal access to the following: And there's bullet points. Communication from the state during emergency responses. Access to one-on-one advocacy for issues regarding communication within a variety of state, local and federal entities that the wider community uses and does not have barriers in accessing. Access to state agencies via an interpreting pool designed specifically for that purpose as requested via a town hall by the community in 2019, I believe it was 2019, access to and equal and fair education by the system providing the top-level interpreters to children especially in their developmental phase as a language model. Whereas people running resources are not educated to appropriately provide needed access to the community propose a change in the funding stream. Office of disability service was able to run and grow the program apart from a large bureaucracy a small and talented commission and the community commitment could allow services to continue and grow. Nevada you can do better.

- Steven Cohen – The meeting calendar on the Legislature's Website is currently undergoing revisions. Long story short, I'd check in with the Assembly Chief Clerks office. Last time I did, they only had Fridays available for special days such as PWDHHSI Day.
