 - There was a discussion on the lack of expertise among admin people in the school districts Department of Education specifically it was brought up that in the Clark County School District, a lack of expertise at the administrative level in terms of the administrators that are overseeing deaf education in the Clark County schools. They advertised and didn't get anyone with Deaf expertise to apply so the person they hired has no deaf expertise. This is an ongoing discussion.

- Eric Wilcox – I want to acknowledge all the hard work that Obioma and her team have done preparing the Engagement Conference for December. This will be our last general meeting I think before we have that and I just want to acknowledge there's been an absolutely tremendous amount of work that's gone into that and the agenda looks amazing and all the people coming just looks amazing, and I'm so grateful that this is a new element of what this Commission is doing for the state because I think it's really powerful. So, thank you Obioma, and everyone who is involved in that.
